Continuation of 5. does NOT place the application in condition for allowance because: It is not persuasive. The differences in interpretation of the claims are focused on the distinction between "remove" and "revoke." The Examiner has based rejection in part on the assumption that removal is "removal of access." In this Request for Reconsideration, at the bottom of page 9, it is stated: "The whole reason for the present invention is to remove information from a server SO THAT IT IS NO LONGER ACCESSIBLE BY THE SERVER" (emphasis added). Applicant is reminded that the DELETE and /or UNINSTALL actions of common operating systems simply remove file paths from directories - they do not necessarily erase a portion of the storage. Thus a "revoke" operation that denies access to a data set corresponds to removing access.
